Dear Mr. Eaton,

Thank you for your letter of May 29 and for the enclosures. I much enjoyed the cartoon in the Providence Journal. I profoundly agree with you about the F. B. I. and the Committee on un-American Activities. I do not, however, feel inclined to make a public statement about their activities in connection with Professor Thirring. About three years ago I published a very outspoken attack upon the F. B. I., but the response, which was vehemently hostile, led me to think that attacks by non-Americans served no useful purpose. You know, however, that I most earnestly support your action in this matter.

Yours sincerely,

Bertrand Russell
